Huge Provision Orders. The respect in which the products of this company is held by our own government is evidenced by the fact that during the late Spanish-American war the United States Government placed with the Dold factory, within one week, two of the largest of the big single orders which were placed for meats at that time. One of these huge orders was for 2,300,000 pounds of side meats, hams, bacon and lard. The other order was for 710, (MX) pounds of dressed beef and other fresh meats. These were by no means the only war orders which this company filled, but they were two of the very biggest of the large emergency orders placed by our government for Army Commissary Supplies. They not only were testimony of the War Department's confidence in the meat products put up by the Dold Packing Company, but they also were testimony of the Government's faith in the capacity and the ability of this plant to furnish and to deliver in all order so enormous a quantity of meat and provisions upon short notice. This high tribute to the company's integrity and capacity was fully warranted by the past reputation of the concern for promptness, faithfulness and ability to do even extraordinary things for even a vast and capacious equipment. The Dold Packing Company at Kansas City did it share to fan America's fame as a producer and...
